Description:
GoodGrind is seeking a full-time Junior Software Tester for its new testing team, with opportunities to be involved in the manual testing of various applications for a Swiss customer.

You will be responsible for:
- Manual testing of web & mobile applications
- Writing and maintaining test cases, analyzing the tests results
- Reporting defects
- Providing updates on test progress or issues
- Working with an international team

You should have:
- Fluent English
- Finished MSc or BSc degree
- Good communication skills
- An eye for detail
- Interest in the area of software testing/IT

Advantages:
- Good command of German
- Help-desk experience
- ISTQB CTFL certification

You don't need at all:
- Any previous testing or IT-experience

What we offer:
- Internal training in the field of software testing (methodology, techniques and tools included)
- Interesting topics and development opportunities
- Long-term career opportunities
- Flexible work-time
- Competitive level salary

Additional information:
- Beginning in 2018 September
- Office will be located near Kelenföld

If you match the above requirements and want to know more about this role, send your CV in English to jobs@goodgrind.tech today!